Secretary Miles C. Riley Announces August 24 as Date for Conference at Boston

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., July 7.—The governors' conference, composed of the governors of the different states of the Union, will meet this year at Boston, Mass., on Tuesday, August 24th. This date was officially announced today by Secretary Miles C. Riley.

The Boston meeting will be the eighth annual meeting of the governors, the first meeting having been held at Washington, D. C., in 1908, upon invitation of President Roosevelt, to consider the feasibility of uniform state action designed to conserve Latural resources. Subsequent to this first meeting the governors' conference became a permanent or ganization, and has met annually in different states.

Carranza reinforcements renewed the attack today.

The July Sales

July is one of the sales months in the calendar of live merchants.

It is the time the stores get ready for inventory and pre-pare to clear out broken lots. It is the merchant's time for planning Fall business. And so special values are frequently offered to the pub-

This fact makes newspaper advertising in July so full of interest.

One may pick up the paper any time and find that it is offering just the things they need at prices much less than they expected to pay.

WAR CAUSES REVIVAL OF CANAL TRAFFIC IN ENGLISH WATER-WAYS

London, July 7. — The war has brought about a revival of canal traffic throughout Great Britain, and the canal companies are doing better than they have done in many years. This is due mainly to the congestion of the railways and at the ports.

Practically the only limit to the traffic available to the canal companies is set by the shortage of labor and barges. Most of the younger bargemen joined either the army or navy early in the war, and the canals, like the railways, are frequently compelled to refuse traffic because they cannot find men to handle it.

DESCENDANT OF FAMOUS HAL FAMILY TO RACE JULY 19.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Cleveland, O., July 7—When Grand dircuit race bugs gather here July 9. Pop Geers, veteran of a thousand acces, will spring on them another nember of the famous Hal family, with whom he hopes to burn up the rack this year.

member of the famous Hal family, with whom he hopes to burn up the track this year.

Fop has gained his chief fame through work with horses of this line. The latest Hal protege is Hal Connor. Bugs will see him in action at North Randail in the Edwards pacing stake.

Fop has always been partial to the Hal family of racers. Brown Hal, champion race stallion in the days of the high wheeled sulky, and considered by many the greatest sire of pacers. was his first. Then came Star Pointer, the first to break the two minute mark; Hal Pointer, 20 ½; Direct Hal, the unbeaten stake pacer of 1902, who died the other day at Elwood, Md.; and the Assessor and half a dozen others of the Hal family with which Pop has pulled down big money.

Hal Connor was sired by Argot Hal, a two gaited staillon, the only fast trotter to come from the famous family.

Geers isn't forcing his brown stallion out at Billings park these days, but he admits that Hal Connor has all the speed of his famous ancestors—and maybe some more.

JONES GETS SUSPENSION FROM PREXY GILMORE

FROM PREXY GILMORE

ISPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.!

Kansas City, Mo. July 7.—Fielder
Jones, manager of the St. Louis Federal league baseball club, was indefinitely suspended by President Gilmore on Tuesday. Shortstop Johnson was suspended for three days and drew a fine of $50 for his part of the argument with Umpire Harry Howell in Tuesday's game which led to both being banished from the field.

After being removed from the game on Tuesday, Jones telegraphed his resignation to Phil Ball, one of the owners of the club. It was his intention to remain with the club until arrangements could be made for his successor.

Having spent a year or more explaining how baseball players have disgraced the game and damaged the husiness by refusing to regard an inequitable contract as binding upon them forever, it is fitting that the magnates should uplift the game by deciding to smash straight, legal contracts written by themselves.

The American "Olympiad" at San Francisco this summer has lost the presence of another star athlete. Larry Whitney, Dartmouth weight man, who won points at Stockholm and who later defeated such heavers of the shot as Pat McDonald, has signed to coach the Penn State football team to succeed Bill Hollenbeck, and automatically becomes a professional athlete.

Joe Jackson doesn't seem intent upon giving Ty Cobb a race for the batting honors this season and they do be some folks who are skeptical as to Jacques Fournier's ability to cling close to the Georgian's heels. So it is interesting to note that Tris Speaker has climbed thirty-seven points in a little over two weeks and is now batting around 320. At his present gait he will not only pass Jackson. Crawford, Fournier and others, but will be right up on Cobb. Maybe, after all, it will be Tris against Ty.

GO IT SAL!

The old Yankee Deacon called to bis horse when it was running away:
"Go it Sal!" And Sal went. Perhaps if the administration keeps on with its watchful, waiting program as re gards Mexico, and continues to cry, "Go it Sal!" to the various revolutionary leaders in time the fighting men of the country will be worn out and stop of their own accord. Meanwhile This delay in passing the measures the country will be devastated, the seeking to reduce taxation by the ruined, and the country itself thrown back into the realms of barbarism a half century or so at least. It is time see taxes reduced or know the reason for firm action and not merely threatening words. Mexico is still laughing at the flasco of the United States sending its troops into Vera Cruz and carefully policing the city after it had cleaned it up for the inhabitants, and small leagues would go crazy over the then sailing home. They will continue to laugh until taught, that to laugh at Uncle Sam is mighty had laugh at Uncle Sam is mighty bad they met an opposing team. business. Just now some eighteen hundred taxpayers have signed a petition to the mayor and resconsibility. council to change the present lighting system of the city and give adequate returns for the money expended. The mayor states he believes the people have expressed their views and he will follow their suggestions. First of all this change means the removal of the dangerous and unsightly poles in the down town business district. The sooner they are out of the way the better the average citizen will feel. Get husy, gentlemen, and let there be no further delay in enforcing the order issued some time ago for moval. THE DEFICIT.

Despite the fact that the big business interests of the country are busy filling orders for the European warriors, regardless of the protests of the riors, regardless of the protests of the peace at any cost advocates, the administration faces a big deficit at the close of the fiscal year. It is all along the line, it will not do to curtail the expenses of the various departments by dismissing "for cause" old and tried employes. The public can not be fooled that way. The wonderful democratic tariff was to reduce the cost of living, but instead of that, if the present war had not come, the country would have witnessed some of the hardest. country would have witnessed some of the hardest times in its financial history. Rich capitalists are not co-ing to risk money in enterprises for mere patriotic reasons. Take for in-stance the closing down of the plant of the Rock County Sugar company here in Janesville, and the statement it would not be opened until the tax on sugar was put on so as to make it possible to make the investment pay. What is true here is true elsewhere and the sooner the voters realize it the better.

THE AWAKENING

There is going to be a grand awarening of the men at Madison before long if they continue to block the wishes of the taxpayers of the state at the bequest of the "Tax-eaters." The combination of educational and The combination of educational and liquor interests is such a monstrosity that it can not long exits after its real purpose becomes thoroughly under stood by the voters of the state. Governor Philipp is doing his best to fufil his campaign pledges and he is handicapped by the members of the senate who are so ultra progressive in their ideas, or so easily influenced in their ideas, or so easily influenced that they can not see beyond their own selfish interests in making laws for the whole state.

The "English Observer" reporting the German advances into Russia have stated that the troops of the White Czar have been forced to retreat owing to lack of war supplies. Dispatches have related that tons of needed supplies were waiting on the Pacific coast for transportation. This

The Janesville Gazette was weeks ago. By this time some of this much talked of ammunition must have arrived at the perhaps we may expect different Russian reports from now on, or the "English Observer" will have to make some new excuse.

> There are a lot of men at Madison who have been there for six months trying to do their duty as members of the legislature at the meagre sum of the legislature at the meagre sum of five hundred dollars for the session. Their efforts have been thwarted by the lobby that has its headquarters there. Men on big pey who make more money the longer the legislature delays final action on bills that are essential to the best interests of the taxpayers of the state. Some way or other the legislature fail to discover or other the legislators fail to discover this truth and continue to act the meal ticket for these human harpies.

Uphoids Dry Law.

West Virginia has been so successful in the enforcement of its drastic prohibitory liquor law, which went into effect just a year ago, that the state is prominently committed to its new polloy, and not in the slightest danger of giving way to the anti-prohibition pressure which has been brought to bear upon it, according to Fred O. Blue, commissioner of prohibition in West Virginia. In an address before the national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America, here to-day, Mr. Blue said West Virginia had demonstrated that prohibition will prohibit—that a prohibition law can be enforced, and quoted testimony from both the employers of labor and the heads of labor unions to the effect that conditions had been remarkably improved.

He charged that the liquor interests were considered.

He charged that the liquor interests He charged that the liquor interests were spending large sums of money to create the impression that West Virginia was bankrupt because she no longer collected revenue from the liquor business. "West Virginia is not now, and has not been, a bankrupt state," said Mr. Blue. "The state is in as healthy a finnacial condition as any state in the union.

with the new and terrifie hackinery of destruction as the German army of the Meuse.

With aeroplanes and dirigibles to spy out the enemy's position, sapper corps to mine and trench, crack cavalry, the fanous Uhlans noted for their great size and strength, infantry who knew only the word "Vorwarts," and artillery such as the world has never before witnessed, these divisions; brigades and army corps of resolute, daring and inspired soldiers looked for nothing but victory.

Checked before the impassable front of the allied forces, it seemed almost as though the fates had entered the lists, for nothing had been neglected to give this great army every military advantage which makes for highest success.

to give this great army every military advantage which makes for highest success.

Motor cars moved troops swiftly from point to point and carried light guns into action, returning from the front laden with wounded for the host pitals in the rear; rapid fire guns poured veritable streams of lead into the foe at close range, while heavy cavalry charged and charged again under cover of supporting infantry and the terrific cannonading of the "Big Berthas." as the Krupp siege guns are dubbed.

Military science and inventive genius were at their highest with this wonderful martial force.

The fortunes of the battle of the Meuse cannot well be understood without a complete knowledge of the number and the equipment of the opposing armies, which owing to the rigid censorship, has been heretofore a closed book to the reading public, until the advent of "The Nations at War," of which a large portion of the first edition was secured by this newspaper for distribution to its readers. LARGE PAY ROLL PÁSSED BY COUNCIL

City Council Act Upon Routine Bus iness at Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.-Adjourn Until Today.

One of the largest orders for a city ppropriation to pay for labor and material in recent years was passed the city commission yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the common council. The resolution called for a total amount of $4,874.57 and the increased amount is due to the large force of workmen that is being employed in the street department and the increased material necessary for the olling and repair work, which has been rushed for the last month, and especially so during the last two weeks. Besides the bills being allowed, the council received the monthly reports from the various city departments and received petitions for the olling of several streets.

The amounts drawn from the various funds in payment of the bills were as follows: General, $2,600; fire and water, $81.70; lighting, $1,258.08; first ward, $201.52; second ward, $143.75; fifth ward, $144.78.

report stated, and care should be exercised in stamping out the malady at once.

On July first there were two cards up for scarlet fover, but these cards have been removed as the natients recovered. At the first of the month there were few measles cases recorded, but these spread rapidly until there were 63 cards up in the city. At the close of July there were but 21 cards up for this disease. During July there were 13 deaths, 36 births and 16 marriages. Fourteen burial permits were issued.

The report of Chief Champion showed that there were 64 arrests made in July and that 36 cases were taken into court and 28 juil prisoners discharged after an investigation. There were 40 cases of drunkenness.

The board of education report showed an expenditure of $7.271.71.

The court report showed that a total of $316.75 was received from fines and penalties.

Convince Yourself

Look at Crisco. Its very appearance tells a story of purity. It is creamy white and just stiff enough to round up nicely on the spoon.

Then see if it has an odor. You will find none but a delicate aroma, indicative of its purity. Crisco remains the same in hot weather without refrigeration.

Next taste it. You will find a neutral taste; that is, practically no flavor—not greasy or "lardy." It resembles cold, unsalted butter.

Then try it. First fry potatoes, and note the wholesome potato flavor. You may never have known the potato flavor before because the taste of the fat you have been using has predominated. Crisco allows the true flavor of the food to assert itself.

Next make some biscuits. See how light they are. Break one open and you will be delighted with its appetizing odor. This is a severe test for a shortening.

Next make a white cake and learn how delicate and rich your cake will be without butter and with few eggs. Below is an excellent and very economical recipe.

Please convince yourself about Crisco. If you will know Crisco you will be a Crisco enthusiast.

34 cupful sugar tablespoonfuls Crisco

1/2 teaspoonful lemon extract
2 whites of eggs
1/4 teaspoonful salt
2 teaspoonfuls baking powder

1/2 teaspoonful almond extract Milk (Level measurements)

Sift flour, haking powder, salt and sugar into bowl. Put whites of eggs into measuring cup, add Crisco, and fill cup with milk. Add to dry mixture with extracts and heat vigorously six minutes. Pour into small Criscoed and floured cake tin and bake in moderate oven forty-five minutes. Cake may be frosted if liked. Sufficient for one came, I was wondering if the game were at all worth the candle."

Her mood changed in the twinkling of an eye. "The battle is over, and won," she said, speaking softly. "Didn't you know that?" And then: "Oh, boy, boy! but it has been a desperate fight! Time and again I have thought you were gone, in spite of all I could do!"

You thought-I was gone? Then you know?"

"Of course I know; I have known ever since the first night; the night when I found the money in your suitcase. What a silly, silly thing it was for you to do-to leave the Bayou State Security slips on the packages!"

"No, I didn't say; I merely let you believe that I didn't see them. After that, I knew it would be only a question of time until they would trace you here, and I hurried; oh. I hurried! I made up my mind that before the struggle came, all Wahaska should know you, not as a bank robber, but as you are, and I made it come out just that way. Then Mr. Broffin turned up, and the fight was on. He shadowed you, and I shadowed him-or had Johnnie Fergus do it for me. I knew ge'd try Miss Farnham first, and there might fall in love with you and so re-"Most emphatically, she did not," he denied. "You have greatly misjudged Miss Farnham. The reason—the only reason-why she did not tell Broffin what he wanted to know was a purely conventional one. She did not want to Pleasant. "I'd rather be a spiteful little cat, which is what she once called me, than to be moth-eaten on the inside like that!" she commented. Then she went on: "With Miss Farnham out of itand I knew she must be out of it, since Broffin didn't strike-there was still Mr. Galbraith. You didn't know why I was so anxious to have you get acquainted with him, but you know now. And it worked. When Broffin asked him to identify you, he couldn't -or wouldn't. Then came that unlucky drowning acoident."

Griswold nodded slowly. "Yes, Mr.

Galbraith knows me now."

"He doesn't!" she exulted. "He is a dear old saint, and he will never know you again as the man who held him up. Listen: He sent for Broffin this afternoon, and gave him a new commission—something about bonds in California. And he told him he must go on the first train!"

Then, with a low laugh that sounded some unfathomed depth of loving abandonment: "It was a game; and I played it-played it for all I was worth, and You are free; free as the air, Kenneth, boy. If Broffin should come unless you are the heartless kind of here this minute and put his hand on your shoulder, you could look up and laugh in his face. Are you glad-Or SOFTY ""

His answer was the answer of the man who was, for the time being, neither the moralist nor the criminal. With a swift outreaching he drew her o him, crushed her in his arms, covered her face with kisses.

"I am glad—glad that I am your he · whispered, passionately. But thought it was Raymer, and for your sake and his I could have stepped aside. That is the one decent thing I have done in all this devilish business. Are you listening?"

She had stopped struggling, and was hiding her face on his shoulder. He felt her quick little nod and went on. "Since you know the one decent thing, you must know all the harrible things, too. A dozen times I have been a murderer in heart."

She looked up quickly, "No, boy, I'll never believe that-never!" 'Wait," he said. "It was there this evening-just a little while ago. Miss Farnham and Galbraith were not the only ones I had to fear; there was another; the teller who got here from New Orleans on the seven-forty-five train. You didn't know about him, did you? He came, and an old newspaper friend of mine was with him. stumbled upon them on the sidewalk in front of the Winnebago house; and Broffin was there, too. We were introduced, the teller and I, and Broffin was so sure he had me that he got his handcuffs out and was opening them.

Margery shuddered and hid her face again. "And I-I didn't know!" she gasped.

"Luck was with me again," he con-"Johnson didn't remember tinued. me; refused to do so even when Broffin stopped him and tried to tell I had a pistol in my pocket, and it was aimed at Broffin. If he had made a move to take me, should certainly have killed him." She sat up suddenly.

"Give me that pictol, Kenneth-give it to me now!"

"I can't," he confessed, shamefacedly. "When it was all over, I smashed the pistol with a stone and threw it away.'

She drew a long breath. "Is that all?" she asked. "All but one thing; the worst of them all . . . that day in the bank vault---'

The daughter of men buried her face on his shoulder again at that. "Don't!" she begged. "You couldn't help it, fuse to give you away. She did, didn't boy; I made you do it-meaning to. There! and I said that wild horses should never drag it out of me!"

Again he said, "Wait," and covered the shining head on his shoulder with a caressing hand. "It wasn't love, then, little girl; that's what it breaks my heart to tell you-it was just madness. And it wasn't clean; you've got to know that, too."

She nodded her head violently. "I know," she murmured; "I knew it at the time, and that was what made me cry. But now it's-it's different, isn't it, boy? now you—are—

"You have heard it all, Margery. You know what I thought I was, and what I have turned out to be. I'm afraid I am just a common crook, after all; there doesn't seem to be standing room anywhere else for me. But every living fiber of me, the good and the bad, loves you-loves you!

"What do I care for anything else?" she flashed back. "You are you, Kenneth, dear; that is all I know, and all I care for. If you had stolen all the money in the world, and had killed a dozen men to make your get-away, it would be just the same. Only-"

"Only what?" he demanded jealously. "It would be just the same to me; but—but. . . Oh, boy, dear! it will never, never be the same to you!" "I-I don't understand," he stammered.

"Some day you will. You call your-Very gently he took her in his arms again; and for a time all things sensible and tangible, the deserted drive way, and the plashing of the little waves on the sands, the staring moonlight and the stenciled shadows of the oaks, were forgotten in the great soulhealing silence that wrapped them about and enveloped them. "I can't do it, Margery, girl! I can't ask you to wait—and afterward to marry a convict! Think of it—even if Galbraith were willing to withdraw, the law wouldn't let him, and I'd get the limit; anything from seven years to fifteen or more. Oh, my God, no! I can't pay the price! Chinese Salt Wells. Salt wells in China have been operated for hundreds of years, and in the Tzelinching district, especially, have built up a prosperous community. In some cases the wells are 300 feet deep. The sait is obtained in the form of brine, which is raised in bamboo tubes by means of crude derricks, the motive power for which is furnished by water buffalos.

Dinner Stories

"I lost a dollar at the matinee this ifternoon," remarked the fleshy roman to her husband, "and I never was so angry in my life."
"How'd it happen?" asked the man.

"I dropped it in the aisle," answered shortly, "and I looked for it—that's all I could do."

"Did you look good?" persisted the head of the house.
"Did I look good!" shrilled the woman, really angry now. "I looked as good as a fat woman crawling around on all fours ever does,"—Coller's Weekly.

She started as if he had thrust a knife into her. Then she slipped out of his arms and caught up his hand to press it against her cheek.

"I should say,".Whatsoever seemeth good in the eyes of my dear lord, so let it be."

you?"
"Where am I?" responded Jones, still a little bewildered, as he glanced back and forth. "Where am I? Am I in heaven?"
"No, dear," softly cooed the loving wife. "I am still with you."

Dr. Charles H. Pankhurst, in his witty war on cosmetics, said in a recent lecture in New York:

"A girl and a man sat under a palm in a rose garden on a soft March evening at St. Augustine. 'Is your love true?' the girl asked softly. 'As true,' the man answered in low, passionate tones, 'as the delicate flush on your cheeks.' 'Ohe-er-ah,' the girl stammered hurriedly, 'isn't the-er-don't the roses smell sweet?'"

(By H. F. GRINSTEAD.) The evaporator is the best for a number of reasons, but where one must dry by the sun there is yet a much better way than spreading out one the house roof or a scaffold of from the poultry. Strips, of 1x4 are named from one post to the other as high as wanted for the trays to rest The end posts should be set two feet or a little more apart, which will be the proper width of the scaffold, putting the other pair of posts as far from these as the length of the scaffold is wanted to be. When the trays are placed on these supports the air passes up through the fruit, drying it much quicker and more uniformly. The greatest convenience in having the trays is when a shower threatens or to protect the half dried fruit from the night dew. The trays may be quickly taken to shelter without disturbing the fruit. If there should be several days of rainy weather the trays should be stacked one on top of the other in a shed or in the house; the air passing between the trays will keep the fruit from souring till again placed out of doors

According to Mangold, the hypnotic condition is induced in man by suggestion or psychical inhibition, but in both cases sensatory stimuli may assist. These stimuli may be optic (fixing the gaze on some object), or tactile (stroking the skin), or otherwise. Sometimes an absence of wonted stimuli may induce the state, as in the case of absolute silence.

EVANSVILLE SCHOOL SHARES IN ESTATE

to Evansville Seminary By Cecella Mygatt.

The Evansville Seminary shares in the estate of the late Mys. Cecelia Mygatt to the amount of $10,000, according to her will, which was admitted to probate in the county court on Tuesday. Mrs. Mygatt left property estimated to be worth some $90,000. There are two bequests to the Seminary, one for $5,000 to establish an endowment fund for scholarships for students in need of financial assistance, and the other of $5,000 which goes directly into the general endowment fund of the institution.

Elmer H. Garrett of Chicago, a brother of Mrs. Mygatt, is named as executor of the estate and is the principal beneficiary, being the residuary legatee. His share of the estate is estimated at $50,000. The will includes a number of bequests ranging from $1,000 to $4,000 to relatives of her husband residing in Tennessee and New York.

One feature of the will which was brought to light in court was the fact that Cynthia Bucklin of Evansville, who was to receive a share of the estate to the amount of $4,000 according to one clause in the testament, will not be entitled to the same because of the fact that she is one of the wirnesses to the will, which bars her from becoming a beneficiary under the statue.

PUBLIC CONFIDENT OF FRENCH BANK

People Exchange Gold For Paper in Vast Amount To Ald National Reserve Fund. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Faris, July 7.—The bank of France has been compelled to designate six receiving tellers to take the gold offered in exchange for notes in consequence of the invitation to the public to turn in its private heards of gold so as to strengthen the national reserve.

Long lines of persons waited in front of the institution all day yesterday and were again there today. The largest sum exchanged was $5.000 francs ($17,000); the smallest, telegrancs.

The usual amounts were 1,000 or 2,000 francs.

The certificates given for the gold bore an inscription stating that the exchange was made for "national defense."
